Hey Jon,

Sorry we didn't get to speak yesterday. The envisioning workshop last night went really, really well. There was 60-70 people there even though there were some other really important presentations happening in the city at the same time. Mary gave an overview powerpoint and then we had table groups examine the site maps and then separately financial information and to identify where in their opinions there are gaps of information or lack of clarity. It went really well and we got some very good insight. We also asked them to tell us the best ways to communicate and that information was also very good.

We are typing up the feedback questions today. Call me when you have a break in your schedule. After my meeting at 9 with Mike and Larry, I will be in my office for the rest of the day.
